Partner with NEST

Rooted in Beirut. Growing in partnership.

NEST is a fully functioning institution whose established work in theological education, Christian formation, and regional service can reach further through partnership.

FIVE CLEAR OPPORTUNITIES TO PARTNER

Support the growth of a calling.

Scholarship partnerships broaden access to theological education by supporting the tuition costs of independent and denominational students.

US$50,000

Student scholarship support sought · 2026–2027

- Independent students receive no financial support from a church or organization.
- Denominational students receive half of their support from their churches; NEST provides the other half.
- Evening Classes for Theological Literacy serve people studying after a work day: US$4,000 per course, including expenses; three Fall 2026 courses total US$12,000.

> Evening courses are presented within Scholarships while retaining their own clearly stated programme cost.

Equip those who nurture faith.

Through CERC, NEST equips Christian educators and ministry leaders with practical learning, trusted resources, and regional connections.

US$33,000

Still needed for scheduled programming · 2026–2027

- Six to seven workshops at NEST, plus resources for Christian Education leaders in schools and churches.
- Outreach programmes in South Lebanon and training for Christian educators in Jordan.
- Art Lounge sessions at NEST, alongside programme coordination, media, and networking.

> The Armenia Certificate is connected to CERC's wider ministry but remains a separate opportunity. Physical CERC-centre maintenance belongs under Core Funding.

Study where you live. Serve where you belong.

The Online Diploma in Theological Studies makes theological education possible for people who cannot relocate to Beirut.

18 graduates

Completed the Diploma at NEST · January 17, 2026

- Students explore Scripture and Christian faith alongside work, family, and local ministry.
- Online access connects serious study with service in students' own churches and communities.
- Partnership helps sustain faculty teaching, learning support, and the digital environment that makes the programme possible.

> NEST's Online Diploma extends theological education without asking students to leave the places where they already serve.

Deepen learning. Strengthen local service.

NEST brings its Certificate in Biblical Studies & Christian Education to Armenian students in their own setting.

4 courses

Two instructors each semester · eight courses complete the certificate

- The established certificate has been offered for several years.
- Two NEST professors travel each semester, for four teaching trips and courses each year.
- Participants develop biblical knowledge and Christian Education practice for service in their communities.

The programme is connected to CERC's wider ministry, while its teaching and travel support remain a separate donor priority.

Invest in the home of our shared mission.

Caring for NEST's building supports the daily life that makes theological education, hospitality, and community possible.

US$50,000 / year

Annual building-care budget · separate from scholarships

- Spaces for learning: classrooms, the library, and the CERC centre.
- Spaces for community: student housing, kitchen and dining areas, and outdoor spaces.
- Essential systems, ongoing maintenance, renovation, and physical renewal.

> Every physical maintenance and renovation need—including CERC-centre maintenance—is grouped here rather than mixed with programme funding.
